

Frontiers of Network Science 6250 (Graduates)
Assignment 2, presentations at one of the lectures 22-24 and 26-27

Your assignment is to review and then prepare slides and present in class a summary of your findings on a topic of your choosing:

1. A current topic of your research, in which case please send me by noon on Thursday, November 8th up to 23:59, the title and brief summary (2-3 paragraphs) describing goal, challenges and current status of your work, or
2. Two from the list of topics posted on the course website and taken from the textbook or publications. Please choose two topics which are of the greatest interest to you and send me an email listing them, by Thursday November 8th. I will assign you one topic of course, but if there is the conflict with the first topic, I will assigned you the second one (timestamp of your email will decide priority if the conflicting topics arrive before I remove them from the list). The time of email submission will decide who gets the conflicting topics, but also will decide time of presentation, earlier wins the topics but assigns the earlier date of presentation. The deadline for sending the topics is the same for research topic and listed topics, that is Thursday, November 8th, but email can be sent up to the end of day, so up to 23:59.

Before the presentation, please prepare slides and send for my approval no later than 24 hours before the presentation. You are welcome to schedule a meeting with me during the office hours or other times to discuss presentation and what you will cover.

Each presentation should be about 25 minutes (12-16 slides) followed by 5-10 minutes discussion. I will be available at office hours (or other times if need be) to go over your slides with you before presentation.

The actual list of topics still available is posted separately on the course webpage and updated at least daily (topics selected will be removed).